

Reds Race To Flank Allied Line

Mongolian Cavalry Is Leading Sweep Of Chinese Forces

By EARNST HOBERGER
TOKYO, Dec. 12.—(UP)—Red China's invasion army, spearheaded by two Mongolian cavalry divisions, turned toward central Korea today for an apparent drive to outflank the new United Nations defense line guarding Seoul.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported that the tough Mongolian cavalrymen upped the number of Chinese divisions facing the 160,000 United Nations troops in Korea to 27—more than 300,000 men.

Another 700,000 Chinese are believed in reserve in near areas.

MOVE TO CENTRE

A headquarters communique reported the bulk of the Chinese Reds moving increasingly toward the rugged centre of the Korean peninsula as they advanced slowly south from the Pyongyang area.

A Chinese thrust from the centre of Korea might turn the eastern end of the United Nations 8th army's defense line around Seoul and threaten the capital's communications to Tientsin and Pusan in the south.

For the moment, however, the United Nations forces were out of contact with the Chinese units on both western and northeastern fronts.

The Chinese broke off contact in the northeast after the loss of 20,000 men in the 1st Division Marines and 7th Division Infantry units.

They were then reported to have shifted into the safety of the allied Hamhung-Hungnam beachhead at 9:30 yesterday.

SECURITY CURTAIN

Future movements of the escaped forces and 40,000 other 10th Corps troops, the British said, were shrouded by a firm security curtain.

Officials inside the perimeter told newsmen they were confident that the outnumbered 10th Corps would "hold indefinitely" against the Communists. However, a UN fleet of transports and warships was trailing off yesterday.

JASPER PLACE MAY GET 'MIRACLE MILE'

Construction of a Miracle Mile project in Jasper Place looks as a possibility today.

First New Amsterdam Corporation, New York group which proposed the "Miracle Mile" project, narrowly defeated by Edmonton voters, Nov. 1, has advised its interest to look into Jasper Place, Mayor J. M. Stone told council of the west-end town last night.

The mayor added that the corporation had written to S. H. McCulloch, K.C., its Edmonton solicitor, asking for details on a Jasper Place location and extent of acreage available.

Mayor Sid Parsons, 2 Commissioners Receive $10,000

Three City Heads Get Pay Boosts

Salaries of Mayor Sid Parsons, Commissioner John Hodgson and Commissioner D. B. Menzies were raised to $10,000 a year, retroactive to January 1, by city council last night.

Ald. Armour Ford lost out in this bid, one to have the two permanent commissioners raised to $12,000, and to have the mayor's $10,000, and secondly, to have the first raised to $15,000.

Ald. Duncan Imler, seconded Ald. Ford's first motion, but no other aldermen supported it. Ald. Ford's second proposal did not even gain a seconder.

Both permanent commissioners should be on a higher salary than the mayor, said Ald. Ford, because they are engaged in a "life work" while the mayor is only temporary.

SHOULDN'T GET LESS

Ald. Harold Tanner agreed to it in the end with action across the city to get the salaries. But the mayor, as citizens' representative, should not be on a lower plane than his fellow commissioners. "It would be a serious mistake," he said.

Present salary of mayor and two commissioners is $7,400 per year. In addition to which the mayor has a car and chauffeur provided.

Law March Aid. Dick Hanna moved the mayor's salary be bumped to $10,000, but reflected action when his fellow aldermen pointed out it might reflect negotiations with civic players unless over wage scales.

Council recently approved varying increases for civic department heads, bringing the top superintendent's pay to $8,500.

SNOW MARS WARM SPELL

Edmonton's "wonderful" seven-day warm spell was slightly marred yesterday with the appearance of an unexpected 12-hour snowfall.

Warm moist air moving in from the Pacific over Canada's slightly colder air caused the "wonderful" spell.

Expected high today is 30. Yesterday's high was only 25, taken at 1:20 p.m. It then dropped off to 15 above at 5:30 this morning for overnight low recording.

Official forecast is cloudy and light with wind. Much the same conditions are expected all across the province.

Youth Accepts Blame In Canoe River Wreck

from the conductors of the two trains involved.

Conductor Mainprize told the court his orders were to keep the train at Red Pass. The passenger car 358 (the trooper) will meet No. 2, engine 800, and No. 4, 807, Gonell.

Later Graham, the passenger conductor, testified the orders he received, numbered 248 from Parsons at Blue River, instructed the trooper to meet No. 2 at Cedar side and No. 4 at Gonell.

The Blue River Operator, Parsons, corroborated Graham's testimony.

All three were visibly moved when giving evidence.

Today Atherton told of a pause that came as he was receiving order 248 from Tisdale.

BRIEF SILENCE
He said there was no noise on the shore for about "25 seconds" after Tisdale had said the words "engine 800," spelling out the number.

The next thing he heard was "at Gonell," Atherton told the court today.

He said he thought the pause merely meant that the orders had been interrupted by someone in the office at Kamloops "at some times happen" and did not suspect the phone had gone dead.

He said the pause was long enough for Tisdale to have spelled the words "at Cedar side," spelling the place name.

The evidence pointing to the error in the Red Pass version of order No. 248.

Further drama was added when Atherton said he generally didn't listen closely to the first repeat of a train order.

This time there was only one repeat, counsel observed.

Evidence was that Tisdale told on why the error in the Red Pass version of order 248 was not detected in the reports from the operator to the dispatcher.

Both the dispatcher Tisdale and the Blue River operator Parsons said they heard Atherton repeat the order with the words "at Cedar side" in it.

WAY HE HEARD IT
Today Atherton swore he had repeated the order just as he heard it—that is, without the important words—and that it had been checked "completely" by Tisdale.

He told communications counsel that dispatcher Tisdale "must be mistaken" when he testified he heard Atherton repeat back order 248 with the word "Cedar side" in it.

The Red Pass operator later told the board that when he reported giving order 248 to conductor Mainprize of the trooper train he again gave the gist of the order back to Tisdale.

Tisdale had not intimated then the trooper was to meet No. 2 at Cedar side, but had instead given him "O.K." to Atherton.

DISMISSED
Atherton said he has been notified he is no longer in the employ of the CNR.

Mr. Justice Archibald stopped counsel in his further examination on the reasons given for Atherton's dismissal by the railway.

Immediately after hearing of the collision, Atherton said he turned to other CN employees in the Red Pass station and remarked:

"I've got my orders. I'm in the clear."

He had worked through until 7:30 leaving other train orders, he said.

Atherton was still on the stand when the board adjourned at noon.

FADE-OUT DESCRIBED
A "fade-out" of a few seconds in telephone communications to the trooper dispatcher's office at Kamloops and operator at Jasper, was described by Albert Tisdale, dispatcher at Kamloops.

He said he was transmitting an order to Jasper and Red Pass Junction, several days before the wreck date.

He did not report the happenings because the line came clear after a few seconds and stayed clear, Tisdale testified.

Under questioning he said the fade-out was the only one he had experienced and that telephone communications on the day of the train wreck had been good.

NOT IN RULES
Tisdale told the court there had been other minor interruptions in telephone transmission and pointed out "the line passes through rough country, rocks or trees could fall against it."

The extra precaution of having operators read the substance of train orders when asking for clearance of a given train was described by Tisdale as being his regular practice.

He said this was not in the rules but was usually done, even in his own case always. The operator at Blue River had given the substance of Order 248 when asking for clearance Nov. 21, Tisdale said.

A little later he said he was not as positive about this as about the fact the orders had been read. He said in the latter case he had underlined the words in the order himself while listening to the Blue River operator.

NO DISTRACTIONS
Tisdale said there had been no distraction or pause in his sending of order 248 to the Blue River and Red Pass Junction operators, and that nothing happened to distract his attention while transmitting the order and receiving the repeats.

He said he thought he would have noticed if there had been a momentary interruption in the telephone communications.

Operator Parsons at Blue River swore he heard operator Atherton at Red Pass Junction repeat back the order to the operator at Red Pass Junction, No. 248 to dispatcher Tisdale at Kamloops.

He said he heard Atherton repeat the order back to Kamloops a few seconds after he had done the order.

"I heard him repeat order 248, spelling out the words, and he also spelled the word 'at' before the word Gonell," I heard clearly and distinctly. The telephone line was clear at a bell on that morning," Parsons testified.

REPEATED, SPELLED
The repeated back to the word "Cedar side" and spelled it out to the dispatcher, Parsons swore.

According to evidence given by the Blue River operator, the trooper train extra the orders he received from the dispatcher at Red Pass Junction called for the trooper to meet passenger train No. 2 at Cedar side and No. 4 at Gonell.

"Cedar side" were not on the written order produced by Conductor Mainprize.

About four miles beyond Cedar side, the trooper collided head-on with eastbound passenger No. 2.

Operator Parsons asked, through counsel, and received the protection of the Canada Evidence Act from Chief Commissioner Mr. Justice Archibald, before production had previously been given dispatcher Tisdale's copy.

TRYED ONE-HAND
Parsons, who said he had been an operator at Blue River since April, 1947, testified he copied the order on a typewriter with one hand because his left hand was injured.

Testimony was followed by that of the man who used the order from Kamloops, B.C.—Albert Eugene Tisdale, dispatcher at Kamloops since 1941.

Conductor Albert Mainprize, who was in charge of trooper train, passenger extra 358, told the court yesterday that his order 248 received from operator A. J. Atherton at Red Pass Junction read: "Passenger extra 358 will meet No. 2, engine 800, and No. 4, 807, Gonell."

The other version of the same order was received from operator F. E. Parsons at Blue River, passenger train No. 2 conductor Maurice W. Graham told the court.

He said his orders instructed passenger extra 358 to meet No. 2 at Cedar side and No. 4 at Gonell.

The divergence between the two versions of No. 248 apparently brought the two trains onto the same stretch of single track at the same time.

BOARD PROTECTION
Both train conductors and Tisdale the dispatcher appeared visibly moved when giving evidence.

Tisdale gave evidence under the protection of the board.

He said he had been a railroad since 1912 and a dispatcher since 1939. He went to Kamloops in June of 1941.

He was on a shift from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the day of the wreck.

He produced his dispatcher's order book showing order No. 248 had been received in his own handwriting. It had been telephoned to operator F. E. Parsons at Blue River at Red Pass Junction at 8:49 a.m.

The Blue River operator had been ordered to make five copies and the Red Pass operator three copies.

ORDER REBID
Order No. 248 to the Blue River operator read: "Passenger extra 358 will meet No. 2, engine 800 at Cedar side and No. 4, engine 807 at Gonell."

He said he later phoned the order to the operator at Red Pass Junction.

"Fence," Tisdale was asked to read the order in the exact manner in which it was transmitted, it spelling out names of places and numbers as required under the rules.

He said both orders had been read to him correctly by operators Parsons and Atherton.

He had also received a later check of the orders, indicating conductors of both trains had received and signed for order No. 248.

Conductor Kerr read at length from the rules governing dispatching of trains.

Crews in turn must read copies furnished conductors.

OMISSION QUESTIONED
Dispatcher Tisdale was quizzed at some length about omission of the word "at" immediately preceding "Gonell" in the order. He said he had not omitted the word in transmitting the order.

After signifying to conductors he had been sent back to the dispatcher he then marks the order "complete" witness said.

In repeating back orders from operators to dispatchers, names of places and numbers are spelled out the same as in the original order issued by the dispatcher, witness testified.

Conductor Albert Mainprize of the trooper train said that order No. 248 did not require, under rules, to be read back to the operator.

He repeated what he had said previously that he did not consider it unusual that his order called for meeting both eastbound passenger trains at Gonell.

Mainprize had identified freight No. 404 at Kamloops. His train had no stops.

He was checking train orders at his cabin side when the collision occurred. Previous to that he had discussed the expected meet with train No. 2 and 4 at Gonell.

Jackman is about 17 miles east of Canoe River.

LOOKED FOR ORDERS
He said he had intended to go to the head end of his train to see if there were new orders at Alberta, 100 miles beyond where the collision occurred.

Asked by Mr. Dywatt counsel for CNR, if he could have had his own train at all times from the canoe club, the conductor answered: "No."

"Was there anything in your orders giving you reason to suspect there were other trains between your train and Gonell after you left Jackman?" Mr. Dywatt asked.

"There was not," witness replied. He repeated, it is not unusual to meet two trains at the same place. He said he had assumed that train No. 2 was running late.

He had expected an "advance" on the meet order at Alberta, the conductor said.

CONDUCTOR TESTIFIES
The fatal order 248 was in effect at the time of the mountain curve collision, Maurice W. Graham, conductor on the No. 2 passenger train, told the court today.

Earlier, he had identified the order when it was shown to him by Mr. Kerr and agreed it came from Kamloops, B.C., and said it ordered the passenger extra (the trooper) to meet No. 2 at Cedar side and No. 4 at Gonell.

Graham said he received the order from F. E. Parsons the operator at Blue River and signed it at 8:50, making it "complete."

He testified he did not hear Parsons read the order back to the dispatcher at Kamloops, but said he had handed Engineer Jack Gilsen a copy of the orders.

After signifying to conductors he had been sent back to the dispatcher he then marks the order "complete" witness said.

He was decapitated and his right arm was mangled when the elevator was in motion.

Shagheensy was not a guest at the hotel, but had wandered into when he became entangled in the cables of a motor room housing the hoist.

The line runs roughly from a point below Kaesong, 35 miles northwest of Seoul and just below the 38th Parallel, up to Shimon, 35 miles north of Seoul and 22 miles above the Parallel, then back southeast across the Parallel to hills 30 miles northeast and east of the capital.

The 8th Army reported partial clashes along the Injin River west of Shimon, about the 38th Parallel, south of Yonchon, and north and northeast of Chunchon, 45 miles northeast of Seoul.

The largest North Korean groups were those at Yonchon and Chunchon, with 1,000 men each. A 8th Army spokesman said they were North Korean forces by-passed in the original Allied drive to the north, and no new enemy troops appeared to have joined them.

The Chinese "are taking advantage of the period of non-contact to reinforce and re-supply," a communique said.

Court Turns Youth Over To Army for Discipline

A 19-year-old deserter who cashed a forged cheque and was foiled in an attempt to cash a second today was sentenced to 12 months suspended sentence and turned over to the army for punishment.

Garnett A. Young, Canadian Army, received the terms in city police court after he pleaded guilty to both charges.

Young, who had been AWOL for the past five weeks, used two cheques from the drugstore where he was working.

He cashed the first for $95.51 on Nov. 23. When a second, made out for $95.91 was being investigated by a downtown department store, he fled. He was arrested later.

Because of his youth and previous good record, Magistrate Main imposed the suspended sentence and released him to an army escort.

FIVE CHARGES

Metro Kim, 26, of the Etwan district, was charged with possession of five charges of false pretence until March 1.

In that period, Kim will make restitution on five forged cheques worth $157 cashed with department stores.

Court was told Kim, a section-hand, cashed the cheques on the false account in a friend's name expecting to cover up when his cheque from the railroad arrived.

The cheque was delayed and Kim was arrested by city police. Andrew Christian, 36, of 9624 10th ave., was fined $25 and costs when he pleaded guilty to the charge of playing cards from a city store.

City Helps Power Co.

Edmonton's municipal power plant is supplying about 25 per cent of its output to Calgary Power Company for consumption outside the city, until the Spray Lake plant is in operation.

Answering Ald. Fred Mitchell's enquiry, city commissioners last night supplied council with a statement from plant superintendent W. L. McFarland, showing Calgary Power has been supplied with 58 million kilowatts to Nov. 30 this year.

Approximately 7,300,000 kwh was supplied in November, and he expects the same amount will be supplied in December.

When the Spray Lake project of Calgary Power starts operation, "we do not expect to furnish them with any energy for balance of this winter," he said.

STOCKYARDS RECEIPTS HIT YEAR'S PEAK

Saleable receipts at Edmonton and Calgary stockyards hit a new peak for the year during November, with the Calgary total setting an all-time high.

Calgary's total of 29,721 receipts, made up of 13,348 cattle and 16,373 calves, eclipsed the previous high—about 25,000 head—set in October, 1949.

Edmonton stockyards received a total of 17,200 cattle and 8,453 calves sent through the yards during the month, for a total of 25,653 receipts.

Previous high for Edmonton was 24,068 receipts—19,943 cattle and 5,200 calves—in November, 1949.

Calgary auctions totalled 29,130 head, and Edmonton, 14,862 head, during November, 1950.

Allies Powerless As Steel Escapes

War Materials Finding Way To Russians Despite Controls

FRANKFURT, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Highly strategic war materials are flowing behind the Soviet Iron Curtain from West Germany, and the western allies are powerless to stop them.

Articles such as machine tools, ball bearings, optical supplies, steel tubing and raw steel are being moved secretly into the Russian satellite bloc.

Allied officials believe that much or most of this material finds its way directly to Russia.

It is believed also that quantities of rolling stock purchased from United States Army surplus has been secretly shipped to Russian satellites for relay to Russia.

ALLIES HELPLESS

The western allies find themselves helpless. They have export licensing power by the West German government, which hasn't the power or means to police the ultimate destination of purchased products.

Allied sources said they have no way of determining the exact amount of contraband that has gone to the Russians. But "we feel it was and is of sufficient quantity to make a substantial contribution to the Communist bloc's war potential," one source added.

Allied sources who declined to be identified explained how the east—at a time when United Nations forces are sorely beset in Sweden, Sweden or The Netherlands, whose job it is to see that shipments roll to Russia and its allies.

STEEL DISAPPEARS

A Ruhr firm, for example, exports steel to West Berlin buyers who ostensibly are legitimate dealers. But after the steel reaches Berlin it disappears. The allies believe it is quietly taken to East Berlin and from there shipped either directly to Russia, or to one of her satellites.

Some contraband goes east under false papers. Other shipments are sold through Communist intermediaries who have set up dummy

Seed Oats Lack Seen

Shortage of seed oats is anticipated in the Peace River district and in the area northeast of Edmonton, Field Crops Commissioner A. M. Wilson today warned farmers to take immediate steps to secure their necessary seed supplies.

Poor crops coupled with early frosts are blamed for the seed shortage in the Peace River district. Supplies of seed barley and, to a lesser degree, grain are also lacking in the area northeast of Edmonton to St. Paul and Smoky Lake and south to Vegreville, Mr. Wilson said.

BLACKFALDS, Dec. 12.—Mrs. M. Murphy was elected president of Blackfalds Ladies Aid at their annual meeting recently.

firms in West Germany. These are busy milking the strategic industries of the West German republic. These dummy firms are "fronts" for other intermediaries in Switzerland, Sweden or The Netherlands, whose job it is to see that shipments roll to Russia and its allies.

Defence Cost May Top Estimated $1 Billion

OTTAWA, Dec. 12.—(CP)—The cabinet will soon buckle down to examining details of next year's whopping defence program at a time of crisis which may even drive it well beyond the $1,000,000,000 figure already broadly accepted by the ministers.

In the weeks ahead, the ministers will get a formal, semi-annual appreciation of the world military situation from the chiefs of staff and then pitch into the job of deciding just how far Canada should go to meet it.

It is impossible to tell at this date the effect of the Chinese-Korean crisis and other offshoots as the Truman-Attlee-St. Laurent talks. The crisis hit Ottawa hard and brought great alarm that a third world war might be clouded in but, for the moment at least, Prime Minister Attlee's visit appears to have soothed these fears.

Some people here think continuance of the present grim outlook will inevitably be reflected in Canadian defence expenditures, even bigger—particularly for arms production—than the $1,000,000,000 that has been mentioned by a number of cabinet members. That figure originated in the earlier days of the Korean crisis before the Chinese brought a general war to the horizon.

MUCH PLANNING
Other people say the degree of intensification of the defence program already planned can't be greatly expanded without all-out effort. A great deal of planning of the next stage of intensification is going on and has been going on, but these people don't see it being implemented at this stage. It will remain for the cabinet to decide when it gets the chiefs' appreciation, followed by the proposed estimates of expenditures from Defence Minister Clineau.

Man Breaks 20-Year Record, Gets Three-Year Sentence

A city man who went "straight" for 20 years after his release from penitentiary was returned today to Prince Albert to serve three years on 69 charges of breaking and entering.

Edward Joseph Bond, 48, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to 69 charges of breaking and entering and one of carrying a loaded firearm.

Ten of the charges were laid by city police and occurred since July 1930. The other 59 charges were laid by RCMP for entries into beach cottages around Kapawin Beach, west of Edmonton, last winter and this spring.

Bond was arrested Nov. 27 by City Detective Stevenson and Murray when he walked into a downtown cafe and into the arms of police.

LOADED REVOLVER

They found on his person the loaded revolver, stolen from a city home. He was charged with possession and later confessed voluntarily to the 10 charges.

RCMP had connected him with five of the beach thefts by fingerprints and he admitted the rest. Police estimated the total value of the loot at nearly $10,000.

They said Bond shipped the goods to Kamloops where a "fence" disposed of it through underworld channels at the Coast. The total number of years Bond dry stated, "If he ever comes before any court in the country following his release, he will certainly be liable for a habitual criminal charge."

"Only his good record saved him from a far heavier sentence," he said.

GOOD RECORD

"In view of your good record for the past 20 years since you were released from penitentiary, I will impose a lighter sentence," said Magistrate S. G. Main. Bond's criminal record dated back to 1931 and he had been convicted of crimes in Edmonton, Calgary and Saskatoon. Assistant Prosecutor Guy Beau-

Spirit of Christmas

Question for the weatherman: Is this snow really necessary?

That old Christmas spirit is really in high gear around our town these days.

For instance: Frank Cardinell of 10633-77 avenue, came up to the office last night and thrust a five-dollar bill into my trembling hands. (Note to the boss: Read the rest before you blow your top.)

Frank asked me to donate the five to the Edmonton Kiwanis club, to be used in their boys' work. The gift was to honor an honest young chap whose name is still unknown to Cardinell.

Cardinell lost a parcel from his delivery truck Saturday. It contained an expensive Christmas present for somebody.

He went back to the store with sad thoughts about paying the shot for another package. To his amazement he learned the parcel had been delivered by some young chap who didn't tell the customer his name.

So I'm giving the unnamed hero an orchid and Cardinell's giving the Kiwanis Club five bucks. Think I'll hand Cardinell an orchid, too.

Then I have about a bushel of orchids for the kind folks who phoned in last night offering living crutches to war veteran Ralph Dakin, his good wife and cute baby girl.

Ralph has been living in a tiny trailer where he freezes the door shut on cold nights.

Soon after I described plight of the Dakins I was besieged by telephone calls offering accommodation to the family.

I've turned over all offers to the Dakins and they should be snug and comfy in a day or two.

That would be the foggy Friday. What I mean is that Mrs. T. B. McGregor of 9633 187 street, had just too much trouble last Friday.

Mrs. McGregor was visiting her daughter, taking her baby along on a hand sleigh. When she started home the sleigh was gone from beside daughter's cabin.

She left the baby inside and went home for another sleigh.

On her second trip home with the baby she saw a car coming without lights. She pulled to one side of the road to let the car pass. The driver swung round the corner so sharply the car fenders brushed Mrs. McGregor's coat.

In her note to On The Town, Mrs. McGregor ends with: "I hope the car driver reads this and is ashamed of himself and just as scared as I was."

A good night to all and especially to people who get offered better winter homes than trailers.

CATTLE HORSE BREEDERS MEET

Stiffer Cattle Standards At Shows Here Recommended

Ralph Briggs, South Edmonton, was elected president of the Alberta Provincial Cattle Breeders' Association yesterday.

Mr. Briggs succeeds Roy Ballhorn, Wetaskiwin, who has held the post for two years.

Holding its annual meeting in the Civic Block, the association passed a resolution calling for stiffer standards of selection for female purebred cattle at the Edmonton fall show and sales.

James Paul, managing director of the Edmonton Exhibition, told the group that female cattle standards must improve if this section of the show is to flourish.

"In the past few years," Mr. Paul said, "female sales have become almost a clearing house for undesirable purebred cattle."

R. P. Gibb described the national advertising campaign being conducted through the press and radio to publicize the value of dairy products.

Six new directors were named for a term of two years. They are W. F. Johnson, J. C. Macle, Richard Second, Mr. Walter Elliott, R. P. Gibb and Robert Briggs.

Directors whose terms expire this year are S. C. Swift, Peter S. Jura, J. H. Moore, Walter Elliott, J. C. Macle, and Roy Ballhorn.

Directors with another year to go are Roy Ballhorn, J. W. Hordford, L. M. Rye, Ralph Briggs, Ed Sizemore, and Alf Elliott.

JON SPEAKS
J. R. Dore, U.S.A. minister of agriculture was main speaker at the association's annual banquet at the Edmonton hotel last night.

Mr. Dore described the year's progress of the Alberta stock and grain exhibitions.

"Alberta once again set the pace with a total of 389 awards, including seven grand championships and 10 reserve grand championships," he said.

He also mentioned the fact that the Alberta stock and grain exhibitions were the largest in the world.

City Building Owners To Provide Car Space

City council last night moved to prepare a bylaw compelling anyone constructing a building to provide suitable parking space.

The matter has been on the council's agenda for six months.

to mid-summer, Ald. Ken Lawson gave notice that he would introduce a motion calling for provision of off-street parking when new buildings are erected.

But on Town Planner Noel Dant's assurance that such provision would be made when certain town planning bylaws were brought down, Ald. Lawson's motion was merely carried over from meeting to meeting with no action.

MOTION MOVED
Last night Ald. Lawson formally moved his motion. Ald. Ed Clarke seconded it, and council agreed to it with no discussion.

Preparation of a bylaw, compelling anyone building on a city lot to provide sufficient space for parking likely to be created by use of the building, then went to city commissioners and the town planner.

At this night's city council meeting, he gave notice that he would, in the next regular meeting, move this motion.

That council consisted of a telephone consultant to examine and report to council on "technical efficiency of apparatus and equipment of City Telephone System, according to approved modern standards," together with recommendations on methods necessary to increase efficiency.

His report would also report on estimated costs involved.

OLD MYTH EXPLODED

Disease of Gum Tissues Curable, Expert Says

An old belief that "pyorrhea" or disease of the gum tissue is incurable was repudiated Monday night by a panel of six dental scientists participating in the University of Illinois' telephonic postgraduate extension program.

The specialists told an audience of more than 2,000 dentists scattered from coast to coast in Canada and the U.S. that, in most cases, periodontal disease which affects the gum tissue and the bone supporting the teeth can be both prevented and cured.

Their remarks were transmitted from Chicago by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company to 250 dental societies and study clubs throughout the United States and Canada, including the Edmonton and district dental society study group.

Participants in the two-hour session were Dr. Saul Levy of the University of Illinois, who served as moderator, Dr. Ballist J. Orban of Colorado Springs, Colo., Dr. Henry M. Goldman of Boston, Mass., Dr. Dickson G. Bell of the University of California, Dr. Gile Kirkland of Montgomery, Ala., and Dr. Samuel C. Miller of New York University.

Periodontal disease is responsible for the loss of more teeth than any other single cause. Nevertheless, the dental specialists pointed out that periodontal disease not only could be prevented, but that it also could be eradicated in a very great majority of cases, especially if

SHOPPING GUIDE

Bea Offers Potful Of Odd 'n End Ideas

By Bea Thrifty

Santa's bag is chock-full of cheer 'n best wishes for merry Yuletide. . . and chock-full of wonderful presents for the wonderful people on your lengthy lists. Wouldn't it be heavenly if the whole problem of Christmas gift-giving were as simple as that?

But tired of you and me know it isn't one whit simple. We know there's still more than a few tap-ends of festive-season shopping and planning to be tucked away.

On everyone's Christmas list there's a sweet 'n loving person who "has just simply everything". . . and that constitutes a major problem indeed.

So let's take a fast look in my grab-bag of ideas and mull the situation over a while.

For elderly aunts or gentle grannies who don't give a fig for "the wind and the rain in their hair" there are innumerable umbrellas of plain or pink prettiness.

There's a fold-away job which may be tucked into a purse for changing whimsy of the weatherman. These sell at prices in the $7 to $10 mark and are right smart if I do say so.

For a little lady of more tender years . . . who's still thrilled with the "titillating" . . . a small corduroy or plaid "Eton cap" is a package for "under-the-tree."

Toppers of many shades, shapes and sizes have been specially designed for the coke crowd at prices ranging from $1.95 to $5.95.

An apricot velvet cap, briefly peaked and the most gorgeous shade ever . . . is a $5.95 pretty for a brown-eyed miss.

And while we're tipping among the toppers let me tell you about elegant headgear for the cocktail cuties.

A metallic Juliet cap has a rhinestone clip and a peppy outer shade for $6.95. Black velvet with pink velvet pannies shaped into a brief-brimmed circle is an after-five hit for her loveliness. This is a $8.95 effort of an ingenious designer.

From glamour headgear let's take a fast switch to practical bits of this 'n that and discuss the nylon string shopping bags which sell at 25c each.

Crocheted securely of durable nylon string, the bags scrunch up to any tinner of your purse until needed. Then they expand to carry all size and shape of parcels for the busy homemaker.

Scarlet, green, blue, white and natural colors are available.

Terry towel scuffs for after-the-bath sell at 49c and are gay in yellow, green, red or blue travelling with leather or plastic.

After-ski socks, with built-in leather soles are of the same comfy, cosy variety at a price shifting from $1.95 to $4.55.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Mature Man's Letter Sums Up True Affection

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man 41 years of age. I have found a woman who has shown me that life is really worth living, though I never cared about it before.

If I am to demolish her smile drives away my gloom. Just the sound of her voice over the telephone puts me on top of the world. In all my life I never know the meaning of love until I met her. I can always talk over my troubles with her and get consolation. It also goes away for a few days. I am beside myself with worry over her, though I know she is capable of taking care of herself. Since I have been going with her I have never given another woman a second glance. After four years I can still go to a movie and hold her hand and feel like a boy with his first sweetheart. I would like very much to marry this woman. But my friends think I would be foolish to do so because they say it is only infatuation, that I am too old to fall so desperately in love. Do you think that is true?

ANSWER: I have printed your letter because it is such a beautiful description of the love that a man feels toward a woman who he finds his real mate. Other men might well check their affection by yours, and if you are wise you will marry the woman forthwith and live happily with her ever after.

To Remove Stain from other cooking utensils, put a little white vinegar in pan and heat and boil for few minutes. Then wash and it will look like new.

SEX APPEAL calls for the kind of vitality personified by Actress Terry Moore, above.

WHY GROW OLD

Sex Appeal Is Important No Matter What You Call It

By Josephine Lowman

In the early nineteen hundreds they called it "IT" and more recently "IT" has been called "OOMPH."

Appeal for the opposite sex is important no matter what you call it and there is no use pretending it isn't.

Sex appeal has many different sides. Look back at the sinking scene of yesterday and the fainting scene of today.

What is the FACTOR? It is that makes one woman fascinating to men all through her life while another loses this magic after the first bloom of youth has gone.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Now Is the Proper Time To Increase Baby's Vitamin D

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

If you have moved up on the vitamin D during the summer months you may be sure that the baby needs it now.

The days are growing cooler, the baby or rambunctious more protective clothes and the sun will have the opportunity to do its full task of promoting the development of vitamin D by action upon the oils of the baby's bare skin.

Rickets is a nutritional disease which affects babies and children who lack proper foods and the oil of the baby's bare skin.

It may be that the only symptoms a mother may note in her baby are fussiness, sleeplessness and maybe some convulsive awaking when the temperature is clearly not to blame for it.

Few children these days show these devastating effects of prolonged rickets because routinely they get cod liver oil or some other form of vitamin D from the early weeks of life.

It isn't that young mothers do not know about vitamin D and how it works to help the minerals of the body to be deposited normally in bones, teeth and nervous system.

The mother may know all of this and still be remiss about giving the baby that daily dose of vitamin D. She runs out of it and forgets to buy another bottle.

She lets herself be persuaded that her grandmothers never had cod liver oil so why should she worry too much about it. She does not know how many crooked bones or what poor teeth her grandmothers' generation may have suffered because of this lack of a vital element in their diet.

Our best friend No. 14 "Rickets" may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Korea Missionary Faces Evacuation For Third Time

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C.—(CP)—Leah Y. Bourne, believed to be the only Canadian missionary now in Korea, may soon have to be evacuated from Seoul a third time.

In a letter to her sister, Mrs. Alice Brash of New Westminster, Miss Bourne says she now is looking after 400 babies in a Seoul hospital and it's quite a task—there are practically no diapers.

Miss Bourne, a nurse, went to Korea originally in 1934. She was there during the Japanese occupation until evacuated in 1942. She served in hospital at Burns Lake and Matheson, Ont., until she could return to Korea after the war.

Miss Bourne was evacuated from Seoul when the North Koreans invaded the south last summer. Other Canadian missionaries went home for a rest but Miss Bourne again.

She enjoys driving around in a jeep and makes a weekly trip of five miles over rough roads to the stores. Three years ago she motored around the 400-foot cliffs overlooking active pass entrances—the first time an auto had been driven over that section.

When friends called on her recently, they found her upholstering a chair without the aid of glasses.

She returned to her job soon after the landing landing Sept. 15. She says in her letter that her home was looted by the North Koreans after it had been used as a headquarters.

With the approach of the Chinese Communists toward Seoul, Miss Bourne may have to leave Seoul again.

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Story

Bulletin Safety Club

In Hollow Tree School one day, the Lady Mouse Teacher, her pupils and Uncle Wiggily were waiting for Fozie the fox to tell a Christmas story. Fozie, the fox with Woffie the Wolf and Bobbie the Bob Cat, had come to school to hear Uncle Wiggily tell a Christmas story.

The jolly rabbit gentleman with the pink, twinkling nose had told a story about a Christmas chimney. It was the turn of Fozie the fox to tell the next story.

"Oh, I almost forgot to tell you that also listening in Hollow Tree School to the Christmas stories was Mr. Rufus Coker, the jolly rat gentleman janitor. He was sitting at the head of the cellar stairs. He said he could listen there very well and, at the same time, be ready to see some coal to his furnace down in the cellar.

"Do you think Mr. Whitehead would like to come inside the school to get warm?" asked Mr. Coker.

"Oh, no, Mr. Coker," answered Uncle Wiggily. "While the polar bear loves cold, snow and ice, where is Whitehead, who loves heat? Your polar bear friend is standing outside the school," replied the rat gentleman janitor. "Mr. Whitehead has one ear at the armpit of the outer door of the school. He says he can hear very well that way. Do you think he can?"

"Oh, yes, Mr. Coker," said Uncle Wiggily. "At the North Pole Whitehead can hear seals breaching away down under the ice. Whitehead has very good ears for hearing. So I think he can easily hear the story that Fozie is going to tell. And I will tell all about how I ran a race with a dog and beat him."

"Pardon me, Mr. Fox," squeaked Miss Mouse. "Is this a Christmas story?"

"Oh, yes, Miss Mouse," was the answer. "Once upon a time, when I was a very little fox, I asked my mother to let me go out and play in the snow. She said I was too little to go out in the snow. She said I must stay in the den where it was warm.

"But I said I would tell you all about it and I am going to tell you. I was a bad little fox. I didn't mind my mother. When she wasn't looking I slipped out of the den. I ran around in the snow. I was having fun but, all of a sudden I heard a hunting dog barking. He was a big, fierce dog. He began to chase me. I thought he would get me. But I ran very fast. I ran back to my home den and I got there just before the dog. So I won the race."

"What did your mother say?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"She said I was a bad little fox. But she forgave me and let me have some of the Christmas dinner. And after that I was good. And that's all of my story."

"Now we shall hear Woffie the Wolf tell a story," said Miss Mouse.

"But for that story we shall have to wait until tomorrow. I will tell it then if the apple pie will let the piece of cheese jump up and down on its crust with the powdered snow."

Airport Damaged at Hong Kong
HONG KONG, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Seven planes were damaged Saturday by a gale which lashed Hong Kong's Kai Tak airport.

The 96-mile-an-hour gusts also forced plane carrying Hong Kong's Governor Sir Alexander Grantham to land at Manila rather than here.

Sturgeon Group Okays Annexation

Ratepayers Vote In Favor Of Being Absorbed by Beverly

A large majority of Sturgeon Municipal District ratepayers last night voted in favor of a proposed scheme whereby the town of Beverly would annex Sturgeon.

This was announced at a special meeting, held in the Beverly school, to discuss the annexation which will be dealt with by the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners tomorrow.

Under the chairmanship of H. L. Larson, the meeting appointed four delegates to the hearing at "Sturgeon" representatives. Mayor Albert Hainsine explained the need for the annexation and how it would benefit the people of Sturgeon.

He said some of the property would be used for industrial purposes, thereby allowing sufficient land for a large residential section for both municipalities.

HIGHWAY SYSTEM
S. H. Payne, a council member, spoke of the Edmonton District Town Planning Commission's decentralized highway system linking surrounding municipalities with one another and the city.

Aim of the proposal, Mr. Payne reported, is to improve travel and communications between suburban towns, save time for district travelers, and to prepare for military and civil defence.

Members said they were impressed.

CARVING SETS, RIFLES FORM THIEVES' LOOT

Thieves stole 13 guns and 31 expensive carving sets in one of two raids last night. Several other shops retained break-ins.

Biggest haul was from Metals Limited, 104 street and 102 avenue, where they stole five shotguns, eight 32 rifles and a high-power big game rifle as well as 31 carving sets.

Police could find no sign of entry to the building by the thieves and it is believed they may have had a pass-key or hidden in the building when it closed.

Vandals are believed responsible for a break-in of the St. Andrew's School, 114 ave. and 127 street. A pane of glass in a side door was broken and the Office of Sister Vincenta, principal, was ransacked. Nothing of value was taken.
